

Media Freedom Day 2009

“Promoting Mutual understanding & Reconciliation”

a picture story

Divine Word University,
Madang, Papua New Guinea

Sponsored by UNESCO

UNESCO representative, Kumi Kiske reading the message from Director – General UNESCO, Mr. Koichiro Matsuura

PNG Studies Year One students performing a drama on a village community exposing illegal logging in the media

Alexander Popen showing a power point presentation on a fish farming community based project he was involved with at Rempi village, Madang

Communication Arts Year One students showing off the new 'diwaicel', the latest in technology in the communication and fashion era...in a drama of course!

Jennifer Baing, PNG Field Representative, Coral Reef Alliance

Top: An attentive audience enjoying the show
Below: Students wearing the 2009, Media Freedom Day printed shirts

Top: Mr. Kiske presenting DWU/UNESCO Communication and Development Award to representatives of National Film Institute, Robert Buleka (far left) and Chicco Michelle Baru with CA Head of Dept., Br. Michael McManus

Chicco and Robert respond to the award

DWU, Vice President, Academic, Br. Andrew Simpson (below right) officially launching 'e-Diwai' with site designer Chris Tabel assisting.

From left: Br. Andrew Simpson, Serah Aupong, Scott Waide and Joey Tau

Top: Mr. Kiske with Br. Michael
Below: The Organizing Committee, Communication Arts Third Year

World Media Freedom Day on May 3rd coincided with Divine Word University's annual Open Day. This allowed journalism students to show the public what they studied at DWU and create awareness of need for media freedom.

Top: Radio Diwai on air with journalists preparing to read the news
Below: Displaying audio recording equipment

Top: Showing how it used to be
Below: Television with a mock-studio with live interviews

Top: Display of student dissertations

Below: Student holding Liklik Diwai, which is now e-Diwai

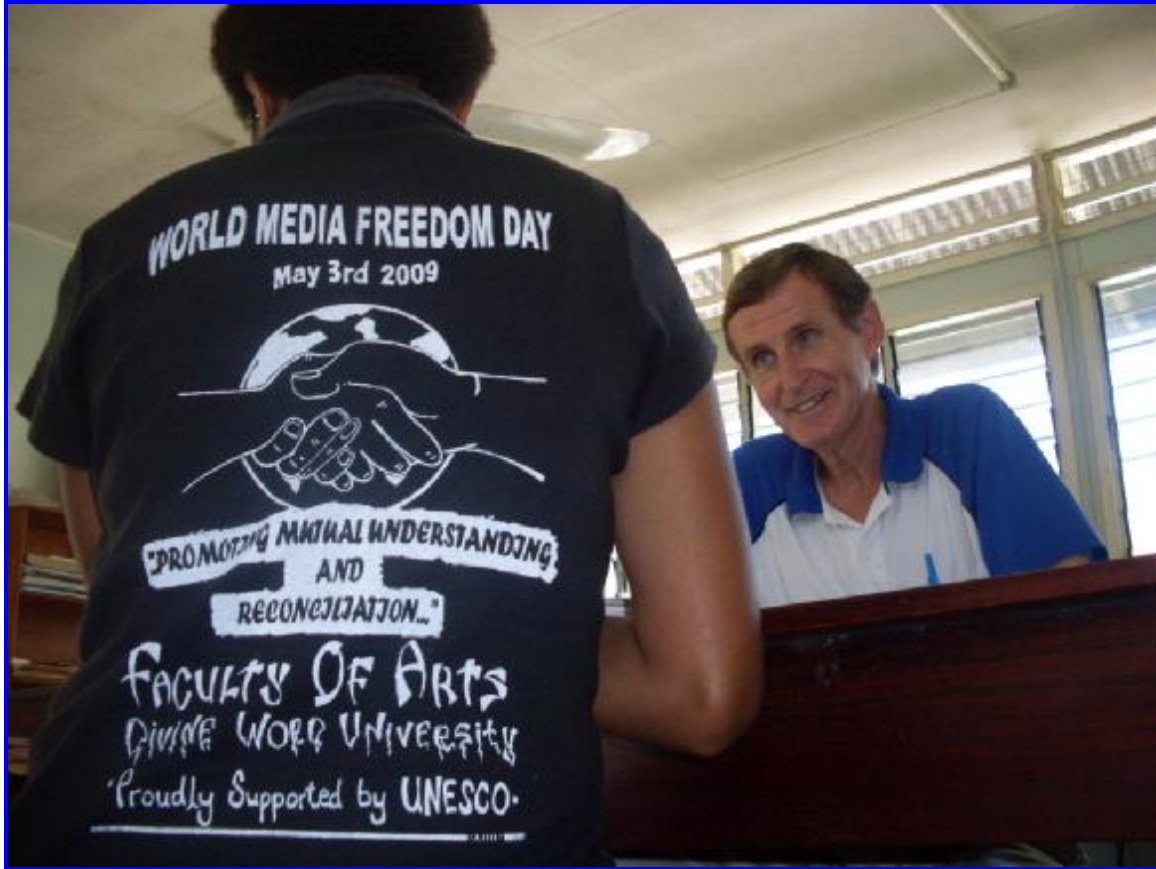

Top: Explaining how layout and design is done
Below: Photography display

Explaining the role of the reporter, sub-editor and chief of staff in the print medium

The Media Freedom Day printed shirt

Acknowledgements:

UNESCO

DWU

Arts Faculty

MFD Chairpersons: Serah Aupong and Joey Tau

Communication Arts students and staff

Ian Boden Tribute: Gynnie Kero and Almanzo Matbob

Head of CA Department: Br. Michael McManus